Saying good-bye in style

Trudy Fabian of Pleasanton shares the delight of her eleven children in the 1976 Plymouth Voyager Van that was presented to her by the Food Industry in the name of her husband Jack Fabian, who died last April 16. When the keys and pink slip were turned over to Trudy, the Van was completely filled with groceries and a slip of paper guaranteeing a side of beef to be delivered later.

Family benefits

They crammed the hall for Jack

He was never a mayor or judge, never a Hollywood celebrity, or famous author and not even very handy around the house. He was never any of the things people are supposed to be to gain that elusive thing called "success."

Yet, the people that attended Jack Fabian's funeral last April 16, felt the powerful force of love that moved among them.

A man, having lived only 39 years, had touched so many hearts so deeply that they had to do something to show their affection to him and his family. He wasn't to "get away" so suddenly without a last good-bye.

The local people from Dublin that attended Jack Fabian's testimonial memorial dinner and dance held in Goodman Hall at Jack London Square in Oakland agree they had never seen anything like it and never hope to again. Put together by his peers in the grocery business with whom he was associated as vice-president of the Pacific Marketing Co., salesmen and store and products representatives came from every corner of the western United States. Dinner tickets were $50 a person with all proceeds to go to his family, and the hall was filled to capacity.

The invitations read, "come join us for an evening of fun in the Jack Fabian tradition," and not even Jack himself could have put together such a party. He must have been beaming somewhere at his friends in The Illuminators, a fellowship organization of grocery men, for having chosen Manny Harmon and his big-band sound to play, as well as the Mexican mariachi music that he loved so much as performed by Ray Hernandez and his group.

Even the menu of New York steak with all the trimmings was strictly a "Jack Fabian" touch. It was his spirit that brought them together and it was in the spirit of Jack Fabian that the evening progressed.

No sticky, morose faces there. In the manner of the back-slapping, joke-telling salesman, stories about Jack were bandied about with the same lusty enthusiasm he always expressed, until everyone agreed that his presence was never more strongly felt.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a 12 passenger Plymouth Voyager Van, completely stocked with food, to his family. This is also to be followed by a side of beef and more products that just couldn't be squeezed into the van (including flea collars and food for "Muffin").

Trudy, Jack's wife, was so overwhelmed with the Food Industry that just "doesn't love you and leave you. They really care and go on caring." She says, that if you ever doubt there are good people in the world, or that anything good that you do will go unrewarded, you never will doubt again, for what she has experienced in the past two months from what she describes as "these beautiful, wonderful men of the food industry."

They continue to include her and her family in all their activities. "This week they'll bring their families and children over with all their own food for a yard clean-up party," she cited as an example of their continued concern.

One of the reasons for this concern could have been the man himself — Jack Fabian. In the memorial booklet that was compiled for the dinner, filled with pictures of the jovial Jack and his family, Mar-Val Food Stores chose to place in their ad: "It is the duty of every individual to make himself a tiny fragment of good influence on the right side of this eternal tug-of-war. Jack Fabian, a long time friend and business associate did that — and we thank him for it."

This esteem was shared by all whom his wife says "touched us all in a unique way."

Co-chairmen for the event, Merle Goodard, executive director of the California Grocer's Association and D.G. Richardson, vice-president of Lucky Stores, Inc., worked hard to make it the success it was. Glenn Warren, executive from Crown Zellerbach and member of the Illuminators, was master of ceremonies. B.K. "Bud" Semrau of the Albertson chain flew in from Boise, Idaho just to eulogize his friend.

On the last page of the memorial booklet it said simply, "Jack Fabian loved everyone, and young and old, everyone, responded in kind." A long time ago a man named Paul said "Love does not come to an end" and he called it the greatest of men's gifts.

Jack's wife, Trudy, said in her letter inserted into the booklet that "nothing that is beautiful should ever die. Love and friendship are the joys of life and this beautiful industry has shown its heart in the tribute to Jack."

Big turnout likely with assurance the pickets will cool it

The pull of Presidential coattails is expected to draw nearly 75 per cent of the voters in Alameda and Contra Costa Counties to the polls today, as Californians register their preferences in a multitude of contests on local, county, state and national levels.

It will be a note-worthy Primary for Alameda County voters who will make use of "Votomatic," the computerized vote recorder for the first time county-wide. Alameda County workers are out on strike, but in a gesture of good faith, the workers have pledged not to interrupt the electoral process.

Polls will be open throughout California from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Registered voters should consult their sample ballots for the location of their polling place.

On the national level, voters will choose delegate slates to the National Democratic and Republican Conventions.

On the Democratic side, voters will choose among delegates for George Wallace, Henry Jackson, Ellen McCormack, Fred Harris, Edmund (Jerry) Brown, Birch Bayh, Morris Udall, Jimmy Carter, Frank Church, and a slate of uncommitted delegates.

Republicans will choose between delegates for Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford.

Pollster Mervin Field's most recent poll shows that California's current governor Jerry Brown is way ahead of his opponents with 54 per cent of voter support. And California's former governor Ronald Reagan appears to be leading President Ford with 52 per cent to Ford's 35 per cent. Another 13 per cent are still undecided.

In the U.S. Senatorial race, incumbent John Tunney is fighting to retain the Democratic nomination. He faces stiff opposition from challenger Tom Hayden.

Other candidates in the Democratic primary include Bob Wallace, Millard Fillmore Slover, Lois Tyrer Bodle, Frank Thomas, Howard Gifford, Les Craven and Ronald Williams.

The Field poll shows Tunney maintaining a slim lead over Hayden, 48 per cent to 41 per cent.

On the Republican side, S. I. Hayakawa, Robert Finch and Alphonzo Bell are running a race still too close to call.

Other candidates in the contest are Henry Hill, John Harmer, Walter Hollywood, Hannibal Caesar Burchette, Clyde Tracy, and Michael Hirt.

For the Ninth Congressional District, incumbent Rep. Forntney Stark is unopposed for the Democratic nomination, and James Mills is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

In the Primary race for the Fifteenth Assembly District seat, incumbent Floyd Mori appears as the only Democrat on the ballot. Two Hayward Republicans, Robert Wirt and David Funsch, are vying for their party's nomination.

Also contested is the Office No. Five Judgeship of the Superior Court. Incumbent Judge John Vukasin faces challenger Richard Bartolini.

Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin voters will choose among five candidates for Alameda County Supervisor, District One.

The race for the non-partisan office pits incumbent John Murphy against challengers Valerie Raymond, Rob Alves, Salle Saint and Irene Vincent. Saint's name appears on the ballot though she is reported to have dropped out of the contest.

If no candidate receives 50 per cent of the vote, there will be a run-off in November between the two top vote-getters.

San Ramon residents will choose the Fifth District Contra Costa County Supervisor. Candidates for that post are Louise Giersch, Earl MacIntyre, Frank Quesada, Eric Hasseltine, Floyd Sims and Warren Smith.

Valley residents of Alameda County will choose three members of the Board of Directors of Zone 7, Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

Incumbent David Harris is seeking election to a second term. Also in the running are Paul Tull, Ed Kinney, Archer Futch, Thomas Schweser, Donald Miller, Gilbert Marguth and Ken Hart.

Voters will face a formidable array of 15 state propositions: four bond measures, ten constitutional amendments and one voter initiative.

The last, Proposition 15, has emerged as the most controversial item on the state-wide ballot. The Field poll shows 56 per cent of the voters oppose the measure, 26 per cent favor it, and 18 per cent are still undecided.

In addition, Pleasanton and Dublin voters must decide on two school revenue measures. Measure A authorizes increases in the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District revenue limit. Measure B authorizes increases in the Pleasanton Joint School District revenue limit.

A break coming in strike?

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — County Administrator Loren Enoch said yesterday he is "confident" there will be "direct discussions" between supervisors and representatives of striking county workers "by mid-week."

Meanwhile, the unions have announced that they will not interfere with today's election. Pickets will be pulled from all seven county owned polling places today, as well as ballot return centers and the county courthouse.

"Messages," Enoch said, their nature undisclosed, have been sent from both supervisors and unions to state mediator John McCarthy. Supervisors and union negotiators have not met face to face since the county passed its salary ordinance late last month.

The supervisors have met in executive session three times a day since the beginning of the strike to be prepared for any developments.

Citing "feedback from miscellaneous sources," Enoch said he expects a surge of 300 to 500 returning employees tomorrow. Some strikers who returned to work yesterday reportedly said others will follow them after today's election.

Friday's payday "may be an incentive," Enoch added, although office managers have been instructed to hand out pay checks as usual. The checks cover the last two weeks of May.

Attendance figures for county employees were up 5 per cent Monday, according to Enoch's office, with 61.4 per cent of non-management personnel reporting for work, an increase of 330 from last Friday.

Nearly 500 more employees reportedly were at work yesterday as compared to last Wednesday, the first day of the strike, he said.

Election will revamp county school board

A new trustee district for the Alameda County Board of Education will have life breathed into it with the election of the lone candidate running for the board.

Ericka Higgins, representing the new Oakland district, will replace long-time county board member John Hagerty of Pleasanton.

Hagerty's term comes to a close at the end of this month.

Three incumbents are running unopposed—Ronald Motta of Fremont, Charles Briscoe of Alameda and John Penna of Oakland.

After July 1, each of the seven county school board members, including the three who do not have to stand for re-election, will represent districts with revised boundaries.

A year and a half ago, to comply with a new state law, the County Board of Education approved a stu-

School district seeking clearer picture of pool responsibility

SAN RAMON — Who's responsible for what when it comes to the swimming pool at California High School here?

The San Ramon Valley Unified School District is trying to negotiate a more clear-cut agreement with the Valley Community Services District (VCSD) owner of the pool.

The olympic-size swimming pool at California High is one of two VCSD has built on school district land and only part of the controversy.

The second is the Valley Community Swim Center adjacent to Dublin High School in the Amador Joint Union High School District.

VCSD and the school districts are being criticized by valley residents for poor maintenance of the pools.

The San Ramon Valley district wants a clearer agreement with VCSD over the pool at its high school.

The school district oversees who uses the swimming pool during the regular school year and pays VCSD $20,000 yearly for its maintenance.

During the summer, the entire operation is taken over by VCSD.

"There's no single line of communication. When something happens, five or six people get into the act," said Mike Halloran, coordinator of pupil services for the San Ramon Valley district.

"VCSD has some responsibility and so do we. We want to make this more clear," he said.

Part of the problem is that the school district has no control over how the maintenance funds it pays VCSD are used.

The school district might spend them differently than VCSD does, Halloran said.

"People complain to us that the pool isn't clean — but we can't do anything about it," he said.

Many valley residents are under the impression the school district in charge of the entire operation of the pool, but that just isn't so, he said.

Another misconception is that the pool isn't available for groups to use.

So far, the only group the district hasn't been able to accommodate was an Amateur Athletic Union club, he said.

However, the district had gotten a request from two AAU clubs. One had used the San Ramon High School pool in Danville and wanted to change to the larger pool at Cal High.

"There's hardly any way two AAU clubs can use the pool at the same time, so one had to go back to San Ramon High School," he explained.

"In this community there are many sports activities and not enough facilities," he added.

Self esteem— good words, no put downs

LIVERMORE — I was late the first morning. Nine - thirty on a Saturday. Barbaric, I thought resentfully, pulling on my oldest frayed jeans and glancing in despair at the unwashed hair.

Who did these people think they were, starting their "self-esteem workshop" this early in the morning?

Throw some lunch into a bag. Take the kids to the babysitter. Race back to the Murrieta Boulevard apartments where this thing is supposed to be held.

"You're only late if you want to be." It's Jim Carothers, standing outside the gate, impossible to miss, his six-foot-four frame topped with a mane of black hair.

"And you're not the last one to arrive, either," greets Ruth Gasten, looking tidy and bright in a long blue dress. Jim is directing everyone through the courtyard to the rec room, and Ruth is meeting us at the door.

"Here, have some coffee. Your lunch bag can go downstairs in the refrigerator. Oops, careful of the loose carpet tiles, they keep promising us new ones..."

I know Ruth and Jim. Did a story two years ago on their workshops, without ever having been to one.

What impressed me then was the way those two felt there were so many CHOICES in life.

They were living examples of it. Jim had been the only son of migrant farm workers; had finally settled down to attend high school in Petaluma; went from that to UC Berkeley, a PhD. and a scientist's job at the Lab.

Now, he was in administration, working with people instead of data after realizing that person - to - person contact was what he craved.

Jim had also returned to college to get a counseling degree. Directing Livermore's "Hotline" crisis telephone service and running the self-esteem groups were the outgrowths of this second, very satisfying career.

Hard to believe that perky Ruth, her big dark eyes seeming to brim with delight just to see you, started life as a little Jewish girl in Nazi Germany and came to Chicago with her parents as a child.

She became a teacher and, with Carothers, developed the self-esteem course because "We live in a put-down society and sometimes we need to hear the good things about ourselves."

There were no put-downs allowed in the next six weeks, as the nine participants, guided by Ruth and Jim, discovered and took time to appreciate our own "strengths," as we called them — from curly eyelashes to the ability to be a loving son.

It started with little cards we had to fill out. "What was the last thing somebody complimented you on?" "What is one thing you do well?" "Name two people who have had an important influence on you."

Fun to be able to talk about yourself so much, I thought, sipping coffee. Now we were grouped in threes, myself teamed up with a 31-year-old, athletic father of three ("This guy I'll never relate to," I promised myself, but he turned out to be a hidden intellectual, a fine craftsman and a completely lovable human being) and Joan, an older woman I also decided I couldn't talk to — until I tried, and found her fearless enthusiasm for life an inspiration to me.

"Where did Ruth and Jim find such an unlikely-looking crew who all turned out to be SO NICE?" We all wanted to know that as we relaxed on the lawn with our various lunches: V-8 juice and raw vegetables for Alex, our token bicyclist and camper... a sinful can of Coke and a peanut butter and jelly sandwich in somebody else's brown bag.

Ruth overheard us. "They ALWAYS want to know," she said with her infectious giggle, "where we found such nice people. Don't you know that ALL people are great?"

We didn't know, but we were finding out. There was nothing scary about sitting in pairs or threes, talking about some particular aspect of ourselves for a minute or two at a time.

"If you were a building — what kind would you be?" "Do you picture yourself as a kite string, or a clothesline?"

Then there was the "homework." Bring in two things to taste and two to smell. Jim lit some candles that night, "so you can concentrate on other senses besides vision," and we passed around our goodies. Caraway seeds, mint leaves, verbena, cinnamon, strawberries, white wine.

More "homework": Do something nice for yourself each week. Read a good book, call a friend, see a show or just loaf.

"Filling your pitcher," Ruth called it, and insisted we would be more lovable people for it.

And we felt pretty lovable, five weeks later, when the 28 hours of workshops were over.

A quiet dinner together, sharing enchiladas and strawberry pie and promises to meet again in July at Lorraine's.

And nobody's going to be late.

(NOTE: Ruth Gasten and Jim Carothers, who call themselves "R and J Associates," offer the workshops on a regular basis; Ruth may be contacted for details at her home, 447-8487.)

Tax override issue puts districts at crossroads

The direction that planning for public school programs will take in the next couple of years in the Amador and Pleasanton school districts will be decided at the polls today.

Local school officials expect a good turnout, possibly as high as 75 per cent, because of the large number of volatile issues sharing the ballot.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

The Times has recommended a "yes" vote on both Measure A (Amador district revenue limit increase) and Measure B (Pleasanton district revenue limit increase).

Amador is asking for a tax increase of 61.8 cents over a period of three years. What the ballot proposes is that next year (1976-77) the district have an additional $91.21 added to the revenue limit to meet "the inflationary costs of operating the schools."

This would increase the current operating tax rate by 24.8 cents (per $100 assessed valuation).

For the next two succeeding years, an additional $91.20 would be added to the revenue limit increasing the tax rate 19.9 cents the second year and 17.9 cents the third year. This means, then, that these $91 units would be added to the current revenue limit of $1,312.76 for the next three years to "maintain the existing program."

Pleasanton needs slightly more to balance its budget, according to the budgetary computations of Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business services.

The Pleasanton administration and board is asking for an increase of 81.8 cents over a period of just two years.

The ballot proposes that next year (1976-77) the district have an additional $79.81 added to the revenue limit to meet the "inflationary costs of operating the schools."

This would increase the current operating tax by 44.7 cents (per $100 assessed valuation). For the next succeeding year, an additional $79.80 would be added to the revenue limit increasing the tax rate 37.1 cents the second year. Thus, the $79 units would be added to the current revenue limit of $986.75 for the next two years "to maintain the existing program."

Current tax rates for the districts are $3.25 for Pleasanton and $2.70 for Amador.

Should either measure fail to get 50.1 per cent "yes" votes, the respective boards and administrations have stated that cuts in various services and programs would almost certainly follow.

The Amador district, which includes Amador High, Foothill High, Dublin High and Valley Continuation, would almost certainly consider extending the walking area (for students) an additional one-fourth mile (in other words, a parking of bus service).

In the Pleasanton district, which includes students in grades K-8, a majority of "no" votes could lead to a reduction in bus services (extending the walking area an additional one-fourth mile), further reductions in library services, lower allocations for school supplies and materials, elimination of the instrumental music program.

The automated ballot box

Votomatic, the computerized vote recording machine Alameda County voters are inaugurating this Primary Election Day, is a long way from the simple voice vote at town meetings in Colonial America.

As in nearly every other dimension of human experience, the computer has entered the electoral process, relegating the paper ballot and the lever voting machine to the realm of nostalgia — in Alameda County at least.

What happens today in the polling place? After verifying your status as a voter in a given precinct, you're given a ballot card and directed to the voting booth.

Once inside the booth, you insert your ballot into the Votomatic Vote Recorder and vote by depressing the stylus in the hole opposite the name of the candidate.

To check your ballot, compare the number punched on your card with the number opposite the candidate's name.

Place your ballot into its envelope and return it to a precinct official who removes the numbered stub and places the ballot into the ballot box.

What happens when the polls close? Precinct officials open the ballot box and remove all ballots, placing them into a transport carrier and sealed.

Precinct officers reconcile the number of ballots issued with the number of voters having made application for ballots. The ballots are then delivered by two or more precinct officials to the Counting Center in Oakland.

The Counting Center is divided into four major functions: receiving, inspecting, processing and storage.

As ballots arrive from polling places they are checked in at receiving. The time of arrival and condition of the sealed transport carrier are noted by the receiving team, and precinct officers are given a receipt.

The sealed transport carrier is then sent to the inspection center. The inspection team cuts the seal and removes the ballots, examining them for damage. They make a certified duplicate copy if any are damaged, and send the ballots to the processing team.

The processing team is responsible for computer operation. They process the ballots through the computer and issue periodic reports throughout the evening.

After being processed, the ballots are sent to storage. The storage team places the ballots in a secure storage area where they will remain for the period prescribed by law.

Strike rally falls short

Two union members, who were taking notes at yesterday afternoon's press conference, would not comment on Enoch's speculation of a direct meeting between officials of Service Employees International Union locals 250, 535 and 616 and the county's Board of Supervisors or its negotiator, Jim Marshall.

Nor would they comment on Enoch's optimism based on the attendance figures and his "feedback."

Enoch appeared pleased and mildly elated when only 300 to 400 strikers assembled at the County Administration Building's plaza for a 2 p.m. rally.

Union officials last week optimistically predicted a mass turn-out of nearly all 3,000 striking members.

But union negotiator John Rowers said yesterday he had hoped for about 1,000 at the rally. "Maybe they got tired and went home," he said. "They had the afternoon off."

Enoch said health services — "especially mental health care" — have been hit hardest by the strike.

The county still is accepting welfare applications, although there have been "some delays," and has been "doing a little maintenance" with the paperwork in social services.

"The present level of services can be maintained for awhile," he said, agreeing to "a couple of weeks." But "after that there's a cumulative effect" that could create more serious problems.

"You can't just have a deadlock when services are this affected," he added.

Union spokesmen said pickets are being pulled from election day polling places "so as not to discourage" voters and "election related business."

Teachers assail school talks

DUBLIN — A petition signed by more than 210 Murray School district teachers alleges a "lack of progress in negotiations" and the possibility of the administration's negotiator (Keith Breen) "spreading himself between too many districts."

The petition was presented by newly installed Murray Teachers Association President Bob Kroetch at last night's district board meeting.

A prime obstacle to meetings has been release time for teacher representatives. The administration allegedly will okay three while the certificated employees' council want four or five members of their negotiating team present at all contract talks.

Rich Piper of the CEC said the last salary and benefits meeting was June 1 with assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing.

dy towards the end of revising trustee areas to make them more in balance with the population. At that time, board members in the northern sections of the county represented small geographical areas with considerably greater population.

The trustee area that Hagerty represents, number six, which covers Pleasanton, will be represented by Virginia Birdsall of Livermore after July 1.

Area six will include the Oakland flatlands from the San Leandro city limits to the Berkeley city limits, including a strip along Fruitvale Avenue and extending from East 14th Street to the bay.

Mrs. Huggins will represent this area. She reportedly was a Black Panther Party activist at one time.

Trustee area seven, to be represented by Mrs. Birdsall, has been redistricted to include Livermore, Pleasanton, Dublin, most of Castro Valley and a portion of Oakland extending behind Piedmont.

Mrs. Birdsall's district represents more than half of the land area in the county.

Her term, along with those of Hardy and Deadrich, expire in June of 1978.

Building resolution's tonight

A host of resolutions tied to construction projects at Foothill and Amador high schools, the annual school bus inspection report and the Amador school district board's response to the classified employees proposal are part of tonight's board agenda.

The Amador board will convene at 8 o'clock in the Foothill High School library.

The resolutions include acceptance of Phase II construction at Foothill High. The project has been on schedule since its inception. Also scheduled for acceptance are the gymnasium bleachers.

Trustees are also slated to adopt a resolution, notifying contractors, for construction of a library addition at Amador Valley High School.

The Graduation Task Force, Level III, report and a resolution recognizing retiring teacher Vern Hemstreet are also on the agenda.

Mori supports nuclear bills

Assemblyman Floyd Mori (D-Pleasanton) has asked the public, regardless of their opinions on Proposition 13, to carefully examine the three bills on nuclear power plants that were signed into law by Governor Brown last week.

Mori said he supported the three measures, AB 2820, 2821 and 2822 because he believes "it is appropriate for the Legislature to guarantee to the public this highly efficient, but potentially dangerous, method of supplying energy be designed with minimum risk."

Mori said this includes the operation of the plant as well as the safe disposal of radioactive waste material.

The assemblyman said he was pleased with the action taken by the legislature, because he believes the three measures can accomplish its goals in "workable and flexible form."

Grim times for illegal aliens

PLEASANTON — Border patrol agents of the Livermore Sector, covering 49 Northern California counties, arrested 5,610 illegal aliens in May, 408 more than the previous month and 271 more than one year ago.

Of the total arrested, 76 per cent or 4,265 were employed and earning the following wages: 1,218 — less than $2.50 per hour; 2,989 — from $2.50 to $4.49 per hour; 53 — from $4.50 to $6.49 per hour; and five were earning more than $6.50 per hour. Eighteen were receiving welfare or other public assistance.

Chief patrol agent Herbert E. Walsh said that the influx of illegal aliens into Northern California is much greater now than last year, with the situation so bad in some areas that newly arrived "illegals" are surrendering themselves because they cannot find employment.

Valerie's invitation

Editor, The Times:
Valerie Raymond invites the public to the following homes for election results from 8 p.m. on:
Livermore — Chuck and Rin Hartwig, 4319 Findlay
Pleasanton — Chuck and Pat Hoyle, 2362 Sandpiper Way
Fremont — Tino and Judy Venzor, 41441 Paseo Padre Parkway.

Editor, The Times:
All supporters of Don Miller's candidacy for Zone 7 are invited to attend an election night party at Potter's Pizza in Livermore, beginning at 8:30 p.m., to await the election results.

Corrections

Editor, The Times:
Just for the record. Regarding the much-disputed East County Government Center site, the assessment of this property is $27,500, not $110,000 as stated in Supervisor Murphy's full-page ad in Sunday's Times, which works out to a Full Cash value of $110,000 as correctly stated in my literature, not $440,000 as stated in Supervisor Murphy's ad.
The County therefore was willing to pay more than four times as their own Assessor and their Assessment Appeals Board said it was worth. I would still like to know why.
Valerie A. Raymond

Vote out Murphy

Editor, The Times:
Supervisor Murphy seems to suffer from the Nixon Syndrome. He talks about being a strong law and order man while at the same time he is violating the law with impunity for his own purposes. In the past two campaigns he has deliberately put up his signs in complete disregard of the County's ordinance limiting political signs to a maximum of 18 square feet per parcel.
As in the case of his conflict of interest on the East County Government Center and his dual residence with a homeowner's exemption claimed in Nevada County, he apparently considers himself above the law.
It's time to vote Mr. Murphy out of office.
Dick Bozak
Dublin

Way of life

Editor, The Times:
Regarding the letters from Mr. Anderson and Mr. Elliott both of which appeared on June 4, the last paragraph in Mr. Elliott's letter which reflects on the last paragraph in Mr. Anderson's letter, suggests that Elliott had prior knowledge of the other's letter. Could it be that they are not two independently concerned citizens?
Mr. Anderson's premise that, in effect, a little more Plutonium is no big deal is short sighted. The Plutonium released in the past two releases as remotely as possible ... not in the suburbs of Sacramento, Los Angeles or Detroit ... so that reasonable dissipation far from populated or agricultural areas could be expected ... and yet it was later internationally agreed to discontinue atmospheric testing. Few wonder why.
As far as adverse health effects are concerned, radiological health experts have long contended that the true carcinogenic effects would take 25-30 years to be obvious and lo and behold, in 1975, precisely 30 years after the start of atmospheric nuclear testing, a statistically significant increase in several of the more virulent forms of cancer were noted, 30 years, right on the nose.
Apropos non-radioactive hazards are concerned, we have learned to recognize the effects of these various poisons, to restrict their casual proliferation and ingestions by strenuous controls and to counteract their effects by anti-toxins and other medications.
We are not so graced when we talk about plutonium poisoning; being still afflicted with limited recognition, questionable control, proposed proliferation and being without known cures... and therein lies the truth of the dangers.

Mr. Elliott's comments continue to reflect a shallow and narrow perception about the truth of life and people.
"Our" way of life is very dear to me personally particularly because it includes all those who will come after me and who must first be insured of life before it can be part of a "Way" of life. So, "Life" is the primary concern... it always leads to a "Way."

Proposition 15 was authored by Dave Pesonnen who organized Californians for Nuclear Safeguards. Project Survival was organized to support CNS by some people who also belonged to the Creative Initiative Foundation... like a member of the VFW and becoming a Mason as well ... hardly sinister.

As far as the Amish go, what is wrong with their way of life? It is different true but, Mr. Elliott, difference in this country has never been wrong. It is in fact what makes us great.

Independent engineers, scientists, economists, clergymen, doctors and labor leaders have studied the issues and see many positive options and consequences of a minute and comprehensive appraisal of the nuclear power situation. They have concluded that there will be no significant effects on our economy or society. If we get on with the alternatives Now, instead of lying down and playing technologically dead ... afraid of the challenge to find a better way.

The only way to safe nuclear power or to safe, timely alternative energy sources is Acceptance of Proposition 15 ... the voice of the people heard over the paternalistic arrogance of the self-serving vested interests.

A Yes on 15 is the right, caring way to insure a continuing way of life for all ... for all of us now and for those yet to come.
Richard Grey

Deceptive literature

Editor, The Times:
Recently, I received Yes on Proposition 15 literature. I would like to point out some rather deceptive statements in the pamphlet which really have no bearing on the proposition.

One part of the pamphlet is devoted to figures on cost savings when solar energy is utilized. I have no quarrel whatsoever with these figures and I will assume they are correct. But they are deceptive because the issue is whether or not this form of energy is readily available at a reasonable cost to the homeowner. The answer, of course, is no! And it won't be for quite a few years yet — 10 to 15 years by their own statement which is still quite optimistic in reality.

The pamphlet also mentions conservation. Fine, I'm all for conserving our resources. One thing, though — have these people taken a poll of Californians to find out if they are willing to give up most of such things as air conditioning and pleasure driving? I doubt if this information is available.

Other sources of energy are being investigated and hopefully will be on line in the future — just when, we are not sure. If Proposition 15 passes with the resultant shutdown of nuclear power plants, we will lose a significant portion of our electrical energy production and increase our dependence on foreign oil. These other sources simply are not just around the corner ready to take up the slack.

One other thing. Drunken drivers could and do kill at least 25,000 people a year on our highways and streets. Why don't these people do something useful by taking on the liquor industry with their Project Survival?

I urge a No vote on Proposition 15.

Perspective

Editor, The Times:
Subject: What have we got vs. What do we want?

When a person runs for office he should be prepared to have some form of dedication. A number of our present elected officials have difficulty keeping a proper perspective on what they were elected to do, especially on Zone 7 and the Pleasanton City Council.

All our election issues are important and demand your deep concern. One issue in particular concerns our future potential in the whole valley which will be regulated by Zone 7, so a man like our Ed Kinney must be considered ... talk to him if you can.

Ann Smith and Jane Taylor whip up a recipe from the new cookbook released by the Del Valle Home Economists under the direction of Vera Aas.

Del Valle Economists

'Entertaining Ideas' released

By LILLY AULT

The Del Valle Home Economists has a new exciting, practical cookbook which fits in with the economy of the times.

"Entertaining Ideas" offers suggestions from informal parties and picnics to a formal tea and dinner parties. The "more than just a cookbook" contains a variety of ideas to appeal to many interests and tastes.

Parties are included for children, teenagers and adults. New ideas are incorporated to give the hostess a new approach to perhaps an old theme. Items from the nineteenth century New England "Mother's Cook Book" have been interspersed throughout the book. All recipes which have come from local people, have been tested by those persons submitting them.

One of the suggestions under "Complete Party Plans" is "Hard Times Party." Suggested menu: Recession beef stew, bring your own relish, crusty French bread, cherry cobbler, coffee and red wine with dinner.

For invitations the book says, "Cut portions from stock market report pages or newspaper and glue to colored construction paper. With marking pen, draw a graph showing downward trend across market reports. Inside, type "Times are tough -- but why cry about it? Come to our Hard Times Dinner Party." Give time and place and add, "Please bring a Goodwill Bag containing an outfit for a guy and a gal."

The book which sells for $1.75 or three for five dollars, may be purchased from the Bookhaven, Flying Chef both in Livermore and Sage Books in Pleasanton.

Jaycee Wives are tops

They helped the Livermore Jaycee Wives Club earn the title of Club of the Year in state competition — Roberta Arguello, Marsha Gillette, Pat Carter and Kathy Souza.

Organized to play a supportive role as an auxiliary to the Livermore Jaycees, the Livermore Jaycee Wives have earned recognition in their own right as the most active club in the state.

The community service role played by these bright, young women (who carry full-time family responsibilities as well) is really teamwork — they work side by side with Jaycee husbands in planning and executing a wide variety of projects.

For example, The Jaycee Wives have been working behind the scenes handling the formidable paperwork and publicity for the upcoming Livermore Rodeo Parade under Chairwoman Dene Murphy. They will be there early ly the morning of the parade to give instructions to participants and hand out ribbons.

While the California Jaycee organization debates the question of whether or not to admit women, the Livermore Jaycee Wives unabashedly accept their auxiliary status, lending a vital hand to the Jaycees, and organizing projects of their own in a highly efficient fashion. "We see the club as an opportunity to get the whole family involved in helping the community," says Kathy Souza.

Kathy and her husband, Gib, were respectively named Jaycee Wife of the Year and Jaycee of the Year, the first time a couple received the honors accorded separately. Another couple, Terry and Jacki Wren, were named outstanding first-year members of their respective Jaycee and Wives' organization.

In state competition at Long Beach recently, the Jaycee Wives club was acclaimed Club of the Year for a second successive year out of 100 competing wives' clubs. The club yearbook, painstakingly compiled by Marsha Gillette, also earned top honors along with a first in Jaycee Assistance for the Jon Conaway benefit, and a third in project of the Year for a Christmas bazaar.

New President Pat Carter has pledged to sustain the "Club of the Year" spirit and to encourage continued teamwork with the Jaycees in serving the community.

Firemen's Muster: Nostalgia can be wet work

1909 Waterous pumper is Fairfield Fire Department's pride.

PLEASANTON — They came from Hollister and Saratoga, Santa Cruz and Pinole, their flatbed trucks bearing ancient firefighting equipment as much as 100 years old.

Beautifully restored, too, worth perhaps $100,000 for some of the carefully gilded and rebuilt machines. There was the Arden Fire Department from up near Sacramento, showing off their Douglas hand pumper built in 1863.

Castro Valley brought one of the rare chain-driven 1915 Seagraves fire trucks. Berkeley's 1912 Seagraves was the oldest water-cooled motorized fire apparatus in the state.

His skin slowly turning bright pink in the sun and wind, Pleasanton fire captain George Withers proudly watched the festivities that turned the Pleasanton Fairgrounds into a two-day nostalgic romp.

The Valley's first firemen's muster was held in 1902, when Livermore and Pleasanton firefighters matched their skills while their families picnicked on the grass.

There was picnicking this year too, pancake breakfasts and a three-dollar steak dinner Saturday night. But Pleasanton was not out there matching wits with Livermore. They were too busy manning the concession stands, trying to make back the $900 they had laid out to rent the Fairgrounds and to pay for insurance for their high-spirited romp.

But they enjoyed it anyway as their compatriots from all over the state got doused racing the clock to pass buckets of water, hook up hoses and knock down targets with streams of water.

The ladies — wives and girlfriends of the firefighters — did almost as well as the men with the old-fashioned contests. A women's team from Napa pulled hose carts 300 feet, hooked up the hose and knocked down a target in 37.78 seconds while Livermore's male contingent could do it in 40 seconds. The San Jose men came up with the best time: just under 32 seconds.

Saturday's events, which went on all afternoon, began with the "bucket brigade": passing 55 gallons of water between five people along a 20-foot stretch.

Some men from Pacifica came up with the best score on that, 38.45 seconds, while women from Sunnyvale were right behind with a 40-second score.

Motorized pumps and hose wagons were dragged back and forth as the crowd shrieked, little kids climbed trees to see better, and most everyone got sprayed.

A few pickets at the Fairgrounds entrance, and a chill breeze, did little to dampen the spirits of those who had come from far and wide, many of them to camp in Pleasanton for the weekend.

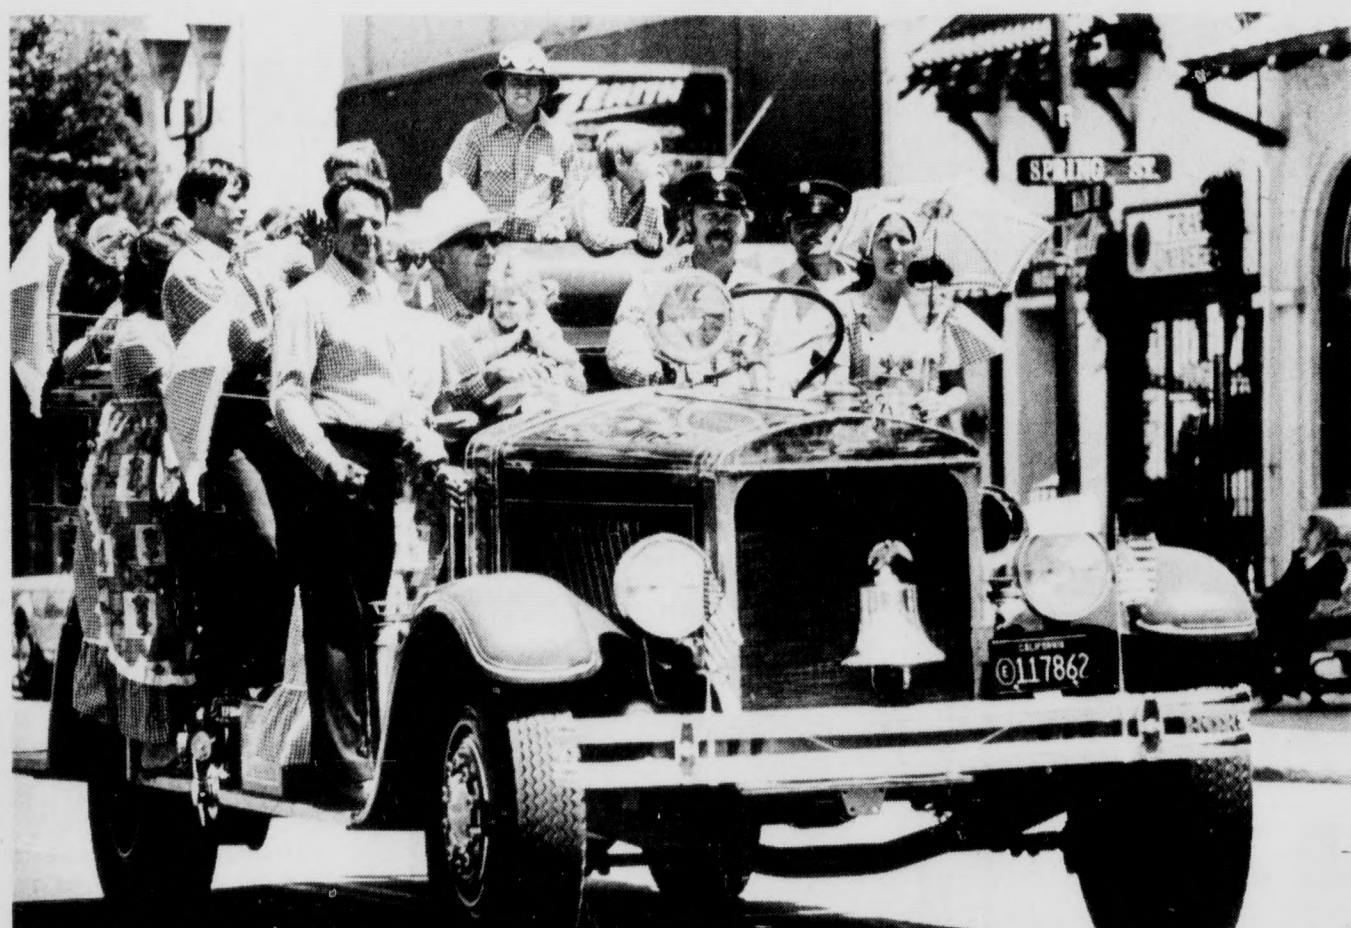

Only off-duty firemen were allowed to take part, so the Valley had its full complement of firefighting coverage throughout the weekend.

It was the eighth muster since the custom was revived in Pleasanton. Withers hopes the old-timey custom will endure, despite rising costs. "It keeps the old traditions alive."

— by Pat Kennedy

Charlie Miller of the Pleasanton Fire Department, drives a 1945 Mack fire truck, his son and the traditional Dalmatian at his side,

1931 Mack fire engine from San Jose makes its way down Main Street, Pleasanton, during Sunday's noontime parade, with California Firemen's

300 feet is a lot of hose — especially when it's bulging with water under high pressure.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Take nothing for granted in any commercial dealings you have today. Failing to stay on top of matters could be a costly mistake.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Your usually dependable allies may be the ones who let you down the hardest today. It's best you rely more on yourself and less on others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Rather than work on a task you resent doing today, set it aside for the moment. You won't do a good job if your heart isn't in it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Don't attach strings to a favor you do for another today. Actions of this type will breed resentment and put the relationship in jeopardy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Usually you can be rather optimistic regarding the outcome of events that you take a hand in, but today you're likely to be very unsure of yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Don't go around carrying a chip on your shoulder today, as it's sure to be knocked off. Weigh your words carefully and avoid criticizing others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You can be quite generous when dealing with friends, but today you're likely to be more of a taker than a giver.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Try not to put your self-interest too far above others today. Being only concerned about No. 1 will turn people off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You have a talent today for creating your own problems. Stop and think about the penalties associated with erratic actions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Profit from your past mistakes. Don't put good money after bad in a situation that isn't paying off. Be prudent where finances are concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Goals that you hope to achieve today may slip by the boards because you won't be willing to put forth the necessary effort.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Don't do anything against your better judgment today. If you feel something isn't good for you, chances are you're right.

Your Birthday

June 8, 1976

Substantial rewards will be there this coming year, if you're willing to pay the price. Be industrious and take the long range view. Don't look for something for nothing.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Billy Eisenberg, a member of the last American team to win the world's championship, finished second in the Cavenish invitation with Jimmy Cayne of New York. Oswald Jacoby captained that championship team and Jim Jacoby was a playing member. Billy and Jimmy were one of the pairs to bid six with today's hand and Cayne one of the very few to make the slam.

The dummy was disappointing and there was no apparent way to avoid two losers, but Cayne handled it nicely.

He led a spade to dummy at trick two and continued with the queen of hearts to West's ace. West led a second diamond. Cayne ruffed, cashed the king of hearts while discarding a club from dummy, ruffed a low heart and had a count on the East hand of two hearts, seven diamonds and four clubs.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ohio reader wants to know what you rebid after you open one club and partner responds one diamond. You hold:
♠ A Q x x x ♠ A x x x x ♠ K x x x x ♠ K x x x x
Your hand is a trifle too weak to jump to two spades. Just bid one spade and plan to bid again.

Davidson sets new trio of marks

SANTA CLARA — Twelve-year old Dana Davidson continued her assault on the age group swimming record book Sunday as the Santa Clara Valley AA Championship Meet concluded at the International Swim Center here.

The young NorCal Aquatics star set three national AAU records on the meet's final day to go with the three Pacific Association marks she set or tied Saturday.

Davidson picked up her first national standard in the 200-meter individual medley, swimming a 2:30.28 to break the existing record by more than a second. In the 100-meter freestyle, Dana beat Stephanie Elkins mark by eight-tenths of a second, clocking a 1:01.16.

She capped the afternoon by winning the 200-meter freestyle in a record time of 2:09.69 to beat the previous record, held by Evi Kosenkrenius, by 23-hundredths of a second.

NorCal coach Bill Radley was elated with the performance of his showcase pupil.

"We were definitely pointing towards this meet," he said of his team. "But you can't be prepared to have some one break three nationals in one day — I doubt it's ever been done before."

Six Pacific Association records in two days is another not to be scoffed at achievement of Davidson's. Dana had set PAAAU records in the 50-meter freestyle and 100-meter butterfly Saturday and tied the 50-meter backstroke to set the stage for Sunday's spectacular showing.

NorCal's Amy Schinnerer and Pleasant Hill Swim Club's Davitt Cunningham, a San Ramon High School freshman, were the only other local swimmers to win races Sunday, though 13 made it to the chilly, late afternoon, finals.

Schinnerer won the girls under-10 200-meter individual medley with a time of 2:51.21. She qualified in two other events, taking sixths in both the 50-meter freestyle and the 50-meter backstroke.

Cunningham, who also won the 100-meter freestyle on Saturday's program, took the boys 13-14 100-meter backstroke in 1:04.96 and placed in two other events. He was fourth in the 200-meter freestyle and fifth in the 200-meter butterfly.

Three NorCal swimmers qualified for the Junior Nationals in Memphis, Tennessee during August, though not winning their events.

Pat Price qualified in both the girls 13-14 200-meter (2:13.26) and 400-meter (4:36.41) freestyles while Jan Davidson, in the same age group, made it in the 100-meter (1:02.08) freestyle. Nancy Thompson was quick enough in the 100-meter (1:02.24) freestyle in the girls 15-18 division.

Indonesian national swimmer Anita Saprdjiman continued a rapid adjustment to American competition, capturing fifth in the girls 13-14 100-meter breaststroke with a time of 1:23.49. Saturday, Anita, her country's top woman breast stroke specialist, had taken fifth in the 200-meter event.

Seventeen-year old Ha-Kie Njan, another Indonesian training with NorCal in preparation for the 1978 Asian Games, was hurt by the unusually cold weather and did not qualify.

"He's really been bothered by the cold," Radley said of the Indonesian record holder in both the 100- and 200-meter breast stroke. "But, somehow, it doesn't seem to bother Anita."

A trio of other Valley swimmers each qualified for three finals.

Vicky Davidson, overshadowed by older sister Dana, who swims in the same 11-12 year old bracket, nonetheless took third in the 100-meter backstroke and fourths in both the 100- and 200-meter freestyles.

Pleasanton Swim Club's Bob Peters took sixth in the boys 13-14 200-meter individual medley and sevenths in the 100-meter back stroke and 200-meter freestyle. Jim Tremain of the San Ramon Seawolves matched a three-place Saturday performance with a fourth in the 100-meter freestyle, a seventh in the 200-meter freestyle and a ninth in the 100-meter backstroke.

Hopper, Ravens deal Cubs loss

SAN FRANCISCO—Oscar Hopper's bouncing bat played havoc with the Tri-Valley Cubs here Sunday afternoon, as the Oakland Ravens overtook the Cubs, 12-8, in California Baseball Association semi-pro action.

Hopper lashed out four hits, including a key two-run single in the fourth inning that put the Ravens ahead to stay.

The game evened both clubs records at 1-1.

Starting pitcher Steve Vaccaro looked sharp in retiring the side in the first inning, but ran into severe control problems in the second stanza.

Vaccaro walked Billy Johnson and Mike Price to start the inning, while Hopper stroked his first hit of the day to plate Johnson. Another walk to John Henderson loaded the bases, before Billy Williams was safe on an infield error, scoring another run. Vaccaro's fourth walk of the inning to Ron Mingo, brought on relief pitcher Ed Kukahiko.

Kukahiko managed to make Larry Wood fly out, but it was deep enough to score another run, making it 4-0. After still another free pass to Ricky Wilkerson, Kukahiko picked off a runner at third base and got Ken Robinson to ground out to escape any further trouble in the inning.

The Cubs battled back valiantly in the second inning to tie the game at 4-4. Walks to John Prieto and Tony Candelaria, followed by a Jim McCuaig single, scored one run. Winning hurler Donald Smith then bearded down and struck out Steve Kreckle and Carl Speck, but walked Kukahiko in between.

With the bases loaded, Jim Florence lashed a Smith offering down the right - field line. Raven rightfielder Hopper misjudged the bounce and the ball rolled past him, scoring all three runners. Florence wound up at third, credited with a double and three RBIs.

The Cubs added to their lead in the third, the key blows a run-scoring single by Kreckle and a two-out, two-run triple by Kukahiko just past the outstretched glove of Ken Robinson at third base.

What was a comfortable 7-4 lead for the Cubs was quickly squandered in the fourth inning by more bouts of wildness.

The Ravens scored six times in the inning, on just four hits. Kukahiko walked Williams to lead off the disastrous inning and gave up a single to Mingo. Larry Wood chopped an infield single to load the bases. Walks to Wilkerson and Robinson forced in runs and chased Kukahiko from the mound.

Two-run singles by Billy Johnson and Hopper off reliever John Prieto scored the final runs of the inning.

In the first 3½ innings alone, the Ravens and Cubs combined to walk 14 batters, due in large part to the pitchers' ineffectiveness, but in a small part to a very tight strike zone established by the plate umpire. At one point in the game the Cubs' bench, so overwhelmingly disgusted with the calls, was warned by the plate umpire to keep quiet.

The Ravens scored two more runs in the seventh inning, upping their lead to 12-7. Johnson's second 2-RBI single, combined with two more walks and a single, scored the runs.

Tri-Valley put another marker on the board in the bottom half of the seventh on Tony Candelaria's home run. His hit probably would have only been a double or triple in any other park, but San Francisco's Sunston Park has fences nearly 600 feet away. Candelaria's shot was a drive down the left field line that eluded leftfielder Henderson and rolled by him.

The Cubs play E. Bercoyich at Chabot Friday night in their next league game. Game time is 6:00.

Boston: still champs after all these years

PHOENIX (AP) — Dynasty. It's a word often associated with a championship team immediately after it wins a title. But the chances of the Boston Celtics — the newest champions of the National Basketball Association — establishing a dynasty similar to one they had during the late 1950s and through the 1960s is remote.

In fact, winning a second straight title may also be extremely difficult for the aging Celtics. An older team is generally more susceptible to injuries and ailments — and the Celtics are an old team.

Boston, despite being plagued by injuries and slowness in the frontcourt, struggled to its 13th NBA championship in the past 20 years, beating the Phoenix Suns 87-80 Sunday and clinching their best-of-seven final series in six wild games.

It wasn't easy. John Hav-licek, the Celtics' captain, played the entire series with a painful foot injury which required constant treatment. Dave Cowens was occasionally plagued by muscle spasms in his back. Charlie Scott suffered from a stomach ailment during the early games. Don Nelson was overweight.

Havlicek and Nelson are 36, Paul Silas is 32. Havlicek and Silas are the starting forwards, Nelson a top reserve up front.

With such players, Coach Tom Heinsohn was surprised that his team even reached the championship round.

"I've got two 36-year-old forwards, a backup center (Jim Ard) who was dropped by two teams and another forward (Steve Kuberski) nobody wanted," he said. "I mean, what were we doing in the finals?"

Boston reached the final round by beating Buffalo and Cleveland in six games apiece for the Eastern Conference title, but both those teams are comparatively young and figure to improve next season. Philadelphia and Houston also have strong young nuclei for the 1976-77 season and Washington has a veteran team loaded with all-stars.

So Boston's aspirations of producing a dynasty, like they had from 1957 to 1969 when they won 11 league championships — including an unprecedented eight in a row — are slim.

"Dynasty?" asked Cowens. "I don't even know what that is. The way the league is now, I think those days are over. The scouting is so extensive, there are more teams drafting ahead of the new champions and there is so much balance. I just can't see anybody dominating this league anymore."

No team has dominated since the Celtics' era ended in 1969. Starting with that year, no team has won two straight league titles.

NHL eyes rule change

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League made good on its promise to curtail on-ice violence with a number of rule changes Monday, but voted 13-4 against a player union proposal to ban fighting entirely.

"We've taken a very major step towards obtaining what everybody wants," said NHL referee-in-chief Scotty Morrison in announcing the moves at a joint news conference with representatives of the NHL Player Association. "What we're very concerned with is the elimination of a player who comes on to the ice with the sole purpose of intimidation or punishment."

Morrison said that the new provisions will "take out a very unsavory part of the game that no one wants. Nobody wants brawling; nobody wants bench clearing fights."

Thus, beginning with the 1976-77 exhibition season, any player who incurs three game-misconduct penalties for fighting will be suspended for the next game; the league president now is empowered to further investigate any incident and assess punishment beyond that handed out by the referee; that a five-minute major penalty and a game misconduct penalty will be imposed on any player who initiates fisticuffs, and that any player who becomes embroiled with a spectator shall automatically receive a game misconduct.

While the last of those provisions may seem harsh, NHL Player Association President Bobby Clarke of the Philadelphia Flyers deemed it preferable to facing civil charges by local district attorneys. Since the Dave Forbes-Henry Boucha incident in Bloomington, Minn., in 1973, there have been five NHL players brought before the courts for ice-related violence.

"Two years ago, we wanted fighting in (by a vote of) 18-2 and now we're against it 16-4 because of the bad publicity we've gotten and the fact that now guys are going to court," Clarke said.

"Three teams voted 100 per cent to eliminate fighting. It's the stand of the Players Association that hockey is a good enough sport on its own and doesn't need fighting."

But the NHLPA's attempt to ban fighting entirely was voted down by the committee, whose meeting kicked off a significant series of sessions here. Still to come were two meetings of the league finance committee, which will hear reports from the troubled Kansas City Scouts and the California Seals.

The Scouts, $5 million in debt and as yet unable to find new ownership, apparently will be folded by the league after the Board of Governors meets Tuesday.

The Seals, meanwhile, must decide where they are to play next season, having lost out in attempts to build a new home in downtown San Francisco and having informed the league of their intention to move or obtain new ownership.

Bankers lose

Joyce Dewitt doubled and got the pitching win as Western Real beat First National Bank of Pleasanton, 21-2, in the Pleasanton Women's Softball League recently.

Ann Kyle had a double for the winners and Lura Gibbons another for the losers.

Nazarene Church wins, 6-5

Nazarene Church scored a run in the seventh inning to take a 6-5 victory over Round Table Pizza in Livermore Area Recreation Men's Softball play Thursday.

Joe Monibno led the winners with three hits and scored twice. Jern Blakesley, Chuck Williams, Bob Rauch and Glenn Taylor each had two hits for Nazarene.

Mike Shelton led the losers with two hits.

The O-Zones blasted 11 hits in taking a 5-3 victory over Hexcel. Gary Egan and Jeff Congert each had two hits for the winners.

Dan McDonald belted two hits and scored twice for Hexcel. Rey Anaya, Dan Sheline and Doug Dickeson each had one hit.

Pinkerton, Seagraves lead Oaks

Willie Pinkerton and Ron Seagraves each smashed triples to lead Oaks Club to a 12-2 win over Fil-Am in Livermore Area Recreation Men's Softball action Wednesday.

The winners scored three runs in the first stanza and never trailed. Oaks Club added two runs in the second, one in the third, five in the fifth and two in the sixth.

J. Moore led the losers' attack with three of their four hits. G. Baker had the other Fil-Am hit.

An eight-run fifth inning provided the spark as Cebu Association clubbed the Lamp Lighters 15-4. Tim Evaristo led the winners with four singles. Albert Tayo added two hits and scored twice.

Tom Jones sparked the losers with three hits. Jeff Paradise added a run.

Bowers Brothers lead win

Robie Bowers and Roger Bowers each had two hits as Lone Star beat Al Neto's All-Stars, 4-2, in Livermore National Little League senior baseball recently.

Alex Carrillo pitched a complete game and hit a double for the losers while Tim Marriott had an RBI.

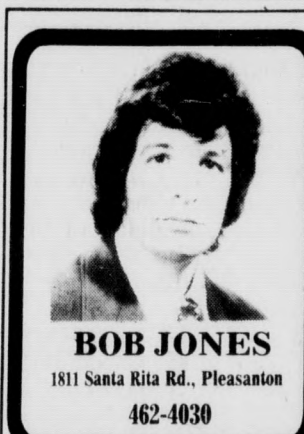

The Geldertowners ripped Webb's Turq., 12-1, as Todd Berg had three hits and two RBI. Joe Hammeke two hits and Rick Helzer two RBI. Mike Davidson and Mark Thompson had the losers only hits.

In the minors, Brian Plohoff doubled and tripled. Ken Jewell doubled and Robert Merritt turned in an unassisted double play as Side Pocket cracked Diamond International, 21-7. Andy Brown played well, scoring a run for the winners.

Chuck Guido doubled while Mike Facer had two hits for the losers.

Tim Dry homered, doubled and drove in six runs as John's Lodge beat Kentucky Fried Chicken, 28-6. Shannon Borges also homered for the winners while Damon Bersie doubled and scored for four RBI and Scott Hill doubled, driving in three runs.

Jeff Ziel tripled, driving in three runs, for the losers' while Frank Carlucci did well defensively for John's Lodge.

"Call me for good value in car insurance."

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.

Still openings in Adult School

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Adult School is continuing to accept registration for classes being offered in the adult school summer session. The summer session runs June 21 to July 30.

With more than 30 different classes offered, the courses are being filled on a first-come, first-served basis. The majority of classes will be 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday evenings at Livermore High School.

There are still some openings in: English for the foreign speaking, business machines, review typing, American literature, basic composition, reading improvement, basic art, jewelry making, leather design, outdoor watercolors and acrylics (morning class), piano and organ, mornings or evenings, pottery, spinning and dyeing, stained glass design, tile painting, civics, confident communications, driver training, upholstery, wood-carving, body conditioning for women, interior decorating, meat selection and preparation, conversational German, conversational Spanish, early childhood education (mornings) and parent-nursery education.

Following the success of last year's program in outdoor art, the adult school is again offering an outdoor watercolor and acrylics painting class which will meet Tuesday mornings, 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. A three-member team of leading Valley artists, Margo Kirkwood, Marilyn "Tillie" Calhoun and Muriel Doggett, will each teach two consecutive classes, taking their classes afield to areas of their own choosing. The same three instructors will teach an evening class at Livermore High on Wednesdays. These are popular classes and fill up fast.

Another new class offered this summer will be Confident Communication, taught by Elteen Kirschbaum.

This course is designed to help the individual express what he or she wants, needs and feels without feeling like a loser.

Assertive communication is saying what it is you want without hurting others, and students will follow the book, "When I Say No I Feel Guilty" by Manuel Smith.

Mrs. Kirschbaum will also teach some of the elements from the communication styles of Carl Rogers, Haim Ginott and Tom Gordon.

The class will meet each Monday and Thursday morning, 9:15 to 11:45 a.m., starting June 14.

Registration is being accepted at the Adult Education Office, 3044 East Ave. (adjacent to Livermore High and the bus complex.) Schedules of classes are available at the office and the city library.

A registration fee of $2 is charged for one or more classes although no fees are charged for those under 21 or over 60 years of age, those enrolled in English for the Foreign Speaking or students working toward a high school diploma.

Additional information is available from the adult school office between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. daily at 447-6671.

Red Cross aids typhoon victims

LIVERMORE — The Red Cross staff at 373 North L St. is collecting relief funds for victims of typhoon victims in the Pacific.

Local chapters of the East Bay have been asked to raise $90,000 toward the $5 million the Red Cross is hoping to collect to help people on Guam and other islands stricken by Typhoon Pamela last week.

According to Glen Wardhaugh, chairman for the Oakland - South Alameda County chapter, "The disaster comes at a time when Red Cross funds earmarked for disaster relief are almost expended, thereby creating the need for an emergency fund drive."

Red Cross emergency workers on Guam say some 14,000 families have suffered losses as the result of the storm's rampage.

"At the peak of the emergency," Wardhaugh added, "more than 5,000 persons were housed in 29 Red Cross shelters set up by volunteers and staff from the Guam Red Cross chapter and by disaster specialists rushed from the U.S. mainland; 2,600 persons still remain in shelters."

Early damage estimates indicate that about 3,300 homes were destroyed by the storm, more than 3,200 had major damage and more than 6,200 had lesser damage. In addition, 266 mobile homes were destroyed and 79 had major damage.

The typhoon resulted in three deaths and 500 injuries.

Assistance is being provided through four federal disaster assistance administration centers already open on Guam and from the Red Cross chapter office.

Counseling seminar at Parkway Church

A seminar on Christ-centered counseling will be held at Parkway Baptist Church, 7485 Village Parkway, Dublin, on Sat., June 12 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The seminar will be conducted by Dr. Charles R. Solomon, founder and executive director of Grace Fellowship International. He has developed a Biblical approach to counseling which he calls "Spiritual therapy," and which deals with the spiritual, psychological and psychosomatic problems bothering Christians.

A registration fee of $25 will be asked to cover costs of materials and lunch. No pre-registration is necessary for the seminar. For more information, call the church offices at 828-0359.
